THE DESIGN LESSON

People disagree about density and scores.
Simple defaults. Optional depth.

110 source records · 37 hosting domains · six independent research lanes

2025–2026 user evidence + current official references. Qualitative findings; access limits are explicit in the full report.

Fund a useful next step.

No tracker fees. No paywalls.
Retailers and publishers pay for a benefit the user chooses.

PILOT FIRST

Next-volume referrals

Correct book. Useful shop choice.

DE public book rates: Thalia 11%; Amazon 4.5%.

Approval + native-app permission still needed.

THEN TEST

Publisher-funded samples

Try an official work before buying.

Clearly labelled. Optional. No paid organic rank.

Real industry examples; Kuro fees unproven.

LATER, WITH DEMAND

Funded resources / tools

Useful club kits or publisher discovery tools.

Partner pays for a scoped service or benefit.

No access to private clubs or reading histories.

THE ECONOMIC REALITY

10,000 active users: about €51 / month

Illustration, not a forecast.
40% need × 20% click × 4% order × €20 basket
× 11% fee × 90% approved × 80% attribution.
Before all costs. Affiliates alone may be insufficient.

NEVER TRADE AWAY

Free tracking, sorting and export. Neutral choices.
Private history. Fast updates. No commercial push alerts.

BEFORE A PILOT

Confirm data / image rights and merchant app approval.
Measure usefulness + settled revenue + maintenance cost.

Decision: start narrow. Commerce first; one useful sponsor pilot later. No guaranteed revenue.

Full report: 18 product + 10 monetization decisions, programme terms, economics, counterevidence and source register.
